

TINUOLA OMOLES

Tinuola is an African American student of San Jose State University. Born on the 11th of December 1979 in Inglewood California but raised in Lagos Nigeria in West Africa. After finishing her high school in Nigeria, she attended Chabot College in Hayward California; where she earned an Associate in Liberal Studies and then transferred to San Jose State University to major in broadcast journalism in Mass Communications. Her goal is to get a bachelor's degree in Mass Communications to become a news anchor or reporter on both radio and television.

Tinuola also minor in Radio Television and Film on campus. She generally loves broadcast media or communications. What motivated Tinuola to do mass media is the desire to be on Television. Television is a very fascinating medium to her. Tinuola ideal job is to be an anchor or a reporter for CNN.

To help her achieve this career goal is taking classes in journalism like

- i. JOUR 61: Writing for media, print, electronic and online media.
- ii. JOUR 163: Audio and video streaming for the web.
- iii. JOUR 164: Electronic news gathering for television.
- iv. JOUR 165: Television News staff.
- v. MCOM 72: Mass communication and society.
- vi. MCOM 100W: Writing Workshop or Advanced writing.
- vii. MCOM 111: Journalism Internship.
- viii. RTVF 94: KSJS-90.5 ON-AIR Radio.
- ix. RTVF 91, Introduction to Audio and Video

AWARDS

To aid her career goals in journalism, Tinuola was among 21 lucky students to be awarded scholarships from the JMC Academic Achievement Award in 2007. She received the Howard Freeman Memorial and Don Hayward scholarships.

Check: <http://thejmcjournal.blogspot.com/2007/05/over-21000-in-jmc-scholarships-awarded.html>.

FAMILY

Tinuola come from a humble, hardworking, and Christian family of five.

She is the first and only daughter of Emmanuel and Lucy Omoles and the sister of two younger brothers: Akinyemi and Akindele Omoles. As Nigerians, her family's ethnicity is Yoruba. In other words, Tinu speaks two languages: English and Yoruba.

USING TECHNOLOGY

Tinuola know how to take shots on a camera and do editing on an Apple computer.